TRANSCRIPT

I've known Paul for seven years and in that time he's helped us on a number of occasions as an exhibitor and as a speaker at our conferences.

The thing I really like about working with Paul is that he's very easy to work with and also very reliable. And what I mean by that is on every occasion when we've asked for information, it's been provided in an extremely timely way, and there's never been an occasion where Paul has missed a deadline. Nor have we actually had to chase him up.

So on that basis I'd thoroughly recommend Paul as somebody as an exhibitor at your conferences. And also somebody who is a very, very engaging guest speaker as well.

The other thing that we really appreciate with Paul is he goes over and above with the relationship that he has with his clients. And with that, and a good example of that is when we've organized the conferences, he's given us some suggestions and hints and tips on how we can actually improve what we do. And that's something that we really value as a consultancy based business.

So again, I would recommend Paul to attend as an exhibitor or a speaker at any of the conferences that you do. Thank you.
